PARIS, Dec. 21.—A revolt against Spanish Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco has broken out in military garrisons of a number of important cities in insurgent Spain, it was learned from usually dependable
sources in Paris today.

The revolt appears to be widespread and well planned. Uprisings have taken place in Saragossa, Se-govia, Soria, Pamplona and possibly other cities, according to the information available here.

See Premeditated Plan
The uprisings were said to have taken place simultaneously, and to have indicated the existence of a plan for concerted action.

More than 1,000 commissioned and non-commissioned officers have been arrested in the cities affected.
Additional arrests were said to have been made in other parts of Insurgent Spain as General Franco ordered an immediate and drastic purge of disaffected elements.

At least six officers were declared to have been summarily executed at Segovia.

It was not known in Paris whether General Franco has been able to reestablish control in the insurrectionary areas, or whether fighting
was proceeding in other districts.

PA NEW OBSERVES

In case you are thinking of making any New Year resolutions, how would it be to look over the past year for the purpose of seeing if there are any obligations that have not been met? Have you borrowed any money or do you have any bills
that you are able to pay, but have just neglected doing so? There is nothing like being able to start out
the new year with a clean slate.

Several days ago a reader made a suggestion for a new industry in the shape of a factory for the manufacture of dog food. Pa Newc has learned that there is already a plant
of that kind here operated by J. S.
Riley and Company. Dog foods manufactured by the plant are not only sold here but are shipped to seven different states. The business, started from a small beginning, has been growing, and while it does not employ many people, it helps in giving employment. Small industries are really better than big ones,
since they are more likely to give
steady employment.

Two youths were standing on North Mercer street looking at one of the new Jefferson nickels. "What's them words, 'E pluribus unum'?"
queried one. "You ought to know that," replied his companion, "that's Latin for five cents." We live and learn.

It's really surprising the many chances that take place over a period of years. This was illustrated
today when Thomas Edmunds, clerk of the registration bureau, dug up a New Castle directory of 1897-98.
Judge William D. Wallace was then on the Lawrence county bench, and the county commissioners were J. H.
Weekly, W. Y. Gibson and William

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec.
21.—Chauncey Miller, 22, of Struthers, O., today confessed
he murdered Henry Fitch,
prominent Struthers citizen,
Oct. 18, and left the body in Fitch's car near the police station, Sheriff Ralph Elser announced.

Miller was brought here from Uniontown, Pa., last night. He faced a charge of breaking freight car
seals in the Pennsylvania city.

Confesses Slaying
Elser said that Miller confessed he shot and killed Fitch after the latter picked him up as he was
"thumbing" a ride from Lowellville to Struthers. No motive for the slaying was given.

Since the murder Miller said he had been wandering about eastern Ohio, West Virginia and western Pennsylvania. At one time, according to his confession, Miller visited the grave of his victim in Poland
cemetery, near Youngstown.

During his wandering he was arrested twice, once in Grafton, W.
Va., where he served 40 days for stealing some lunches and a jacket,
and the second time in Connellsville, Pa., from whence he was taken to Uniontown.

Fitch was returning from a visit to a doctor at New Wilmington on the night of his murder.

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Federal agents turned to another aide of the masquerading "F. Donald Coster" today as they sought to unravel the tangled financial affairs of the Mc-Kesson & Robbins drug concern.

Benjamin Simon, arrested on charges of conspiring to violate federal laws, was revealed as a convicted poultry racketeer of nine years ago and termed by federal authorities as "probably the most important

posed $50,000,000 arms smuggling deal.

Arrested at his Bronx home last

Unusual Cold Spell Continues In Europe

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 21.—The cold spell
sweeping Great Britain and Europe kept hundreds of Londoners from their beds, firesides and favorite fun
spots early today and sent them
skating over the city's numerous frozen park ponds.

Automobile headlights shining on the skaters lent a gay touch to the almost unprecedented scene of London residents skating on natural ice in a city where winter usually means rain, fog and wind.

Fifteen more deaths throughout the British Isles brought the total for the nation to some 55 as a result of the cold spell. On the continent
where the frigid weather brought ice blocks to the Venetian lagoons and paralyzed traffic in the upper Seine river, the toll was estimated at more than 100.

Reports from Paris said no trains
left the Gare De Lyons, with all major points blocked by frost and snow.

Post Office Open Until 8 Tonight; Rush Developing

All the New Castle post office
windows except those in the money order division will remain open tonight until 8 o'clock. Postmaster Richard A. Steen announced this afternoon.

The extension of hours was ordered to accommodate crowds expected to fill the post office late in the day. Postmaster Steen said the morning crowd was large, although "under expectations." He blamed the weather for the morning let-up.

Report Attempt Made To Enter North Hill Home

City Detectives John Young and Thomas Lynch, today were trying to ascertain the identity of two persons who were reported by Miss May Hoyt to have attempted to gain entrance to the Hoyt residence at 121
East Winter avenue, at 6:18 p. m.
Tuesday.

According to a report made to police headquarters, the two men waited until Frank Hoyt had departed from the residence then placed a ladder against the front porch.

They were preparing to ascend the ladder and make an entrance to the home when Miss Hoyt discovered them. They must have seen her and becoming frightened fled.

A telephone call sent a police cruiser car to the scene. However,
upon the arrival of the police the two men had disappeared. They carried the ladder away with them, it was reported.

Five Are Found Dead In Mass Murder Case

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 21.—Five persons, four of them members of one family, were found dead in Savannah today, victims of what police described as mass murder.

The victims were identified as:
J. S. Tillman, 33, a W.P.A. worker;
his wife, Elizabeth; their two children, Clara 9, and Viola 7; and a neighbor, Tom Chester, a night
watchman at a welding plant.

Police declared all members of the Tillman family had been beaten to death, while Chester had been shot.
The bodies of the members of the Tillman family were found in one room, while Chester's body was found in a shed nearby.

A bloody iron pipe, with which members of the Tillman family were believed to have been beaten to death, was found near the scene, it
was reported.

It could not be learned immediately how long the victims had been dead.

Soviet Russia Makes Bid For More Attention

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 21.—A striking new bid by Soviet Russia for renewed participation in the affairs of continental Europe, breaking the Anti-Russian "ice-jam" created at Munich, was seen by political observers today in announcement of a far-reaching trade agreement between Moscow and Poland.

Coming only a few weeks after renewal of the Russo-Polish pact of friendship, the trade agreement was looked upon as one of political rather than economic importance, with these two purposes closely intertwined.

1.—Revival of Soviet Russia as a potent factor in European affairs.
2.—Creation of a Russo-Polish bul-work which may prove a stumbling-block for Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler
in his eastward drive toward the Ukraine.

Eden declared he was impressed with the "vitality and candor" of the American attitude, and added:
"I found American opinion most interested in world affairs generally and in European and far eastern affairs particularly."

He urged British newspapers to publish more United States news
and "more informed American opinion regarding European events."

Eden And Wife Back In England

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—Grim-faced and serious, six men and six women, who held the fate of Colonel Martin Moe "The Gimp" Snyder, argued and wrangled behind the heavy walnut door of a jury room
today, seeking a verdict in the case of "the people of California" against the little man who for 17 years was Ruth Etting's husband.

And the Gimp, as his fate hung
in the balance, sat tensed and nervous in an ante-room to Judge Thomas L. Ambrose's court, apparently uncertain in his own mind whether his plea of self-defense in the shooting of Myrl Alderman, Miss Etting's
new spouse, would save him from long years in the penitentiary.

There was a rumor floating about the corridors of the hall of justice
that the jury stood six to six, in an even split over the question of Colonel Gimp's guilt or innocence.

Study Assailant Of Mayor La Guardia

Believed Man Is Delusion Victim

La Guardia Has Black Eye As Result Of Encounter On Tuesday

ALL IN DAY'S WORK DECLARES MAYOR

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Psychiatrists studying James F. Hagan, 48, a dismissed WPA worker, said today that a belief that he is being persecuted caused him to attack Mayor F. H. La Guardia on the steps of city hall.

The attack which left the mayor with a black eye was the first act of physical violence against La Guardia since the took office in 1934. Recently, however, his life was threatened in a note bearing a swastika. The envelope, in which the note was concealed, contained an unfired bullet.

Victim of Delusions
Psychiatrists at Bellevue hospital, said that Hagan is a victim of delusions of persecution. When arraigned on assault charges, Hagan, whose wife said he suffered a nervous breakdown recently, insisted that he had a perfect right to hit La Guardia. He shouted:

"This man (La Guardia) was holding out funds on me. This man was doing me wrong."

La Guardia said he never had seen his assailant before and dismissed the incident as "nothing" adding:

"That all happens in a day's work. It was nothing compared to some blows delivered under the belt."

PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE IN NEAR DEADLOCK

ious committees had to confine themselves to relatively unimportant matters while the United States and other delegations sought a compromise on the solidarity issue which might be acceptable to Buenos Aires.

Yesterday a revised draft of the proposed declaration was circulated, but it failed to shake Argentine resistance to any mention of possible "non-American" aggression.

Representatives of Peru and Brazil, charged with the task of finding a suitable compromise text, were unable to report substantial progress toward an agreement. Argentina is steadfastly holding out against anything which might alienate European nations from Latin America.

Hull May Make Announcement
Secretary of State Hull, who is keeping in close touch with the situation, said he might make some announcement today.

He and other members of the United States delegation have remained outwardly optimistic, contending that an agreement on the solidarity issue will be reached and that the American republics will adopt a statement making it clear that they will unitedly oppose any outside attempts at domination of the western hemisphere.

Meanwhile, a meeting of the committee on organization of peace today was expected to refrain carefully from any subjects which might precipitate a debate on the solidarity question. It is felt that the time is not yet ripe to permit any general debate on the issue, which many delegates consider the most important facing the conference.

MAZZONE CASE AWAITS VERDICT

the morning of December 3 and of his ridiculing the actions of a Mrs. Shuber at a party held some nights before when Mrs. Shuber is said to have gotten drunk and acted in an unseemly manner.

Mihlikovich Protest
Mike Mihlikovich protested against Mazzone's statements, the witness said and said to Mazzone "why talk about the woman when you are worse than she is."

The two men walked outside and a few moments Mihlikovich came back into the house. Sometime later he saw Mazzone coming down the road, they said, and walked out to meet him. The women protested against his going and urged him not to get into a fight. Mihlikovich went out and a little later was shot to death on the highway.

Mazzone took the stand immediately after Attorney Edwin K. Logan had presented the opening of his case to the jury. He said Mazzone shot in self defense and the defense would ask for an acquittal.

Mazzone proved to be something of an actor on the stand. With few questions from his counsel he went through a story of association with Mihlikovich going back several years. The speed of his testimony was breath taking and had Court Stenographer F. M. Rowland hurrying to keep up with him. For forty five minutes Mazzone talked on, eyes flashing, now and then lashing out with gestures and through it all endeavoring to impress the jury that he was afraid of Mike Mihlikovich and that he shot in self defense.

Cross Examination
Upon cross examination District Attorney John G. Lamoreaux grilled Mazzone upon his reasons for going to his home and getting a gun and then walking back down the highway past the Dukavich home. Time and again Mazzone pleaded that he was fearful, that he put the gun in his pocket because he was afraid, that he didn't want to drive his car back down the highway on an errand he said he had, because he was too nervous.

Finally Mr. Lamoreaux gave Mazzone the gun he had used and had him re-enact the crime on the highway on December 3.

The case was finally closed shortly after ten o'clock this morning. Following recess Attorney Samuel L. Clark made the plea for the defense to the jury. He stressed the theory of self defense, asked the jury to send Mazzone back to his wife and two children a free man and closed by asking for a complete acquittal.

District Attorney John G. Lamoreaux asked the jury to remember their duty as American citizens. He expressed sympathy for the wife and children of Mazzone but reminded them that Mike Mihlikovich was dead, shot by Frank Mazzone. Mr. Lamoreaux emphasized the fact that the commonwealth had proved beyond a reasonable doubt that Mazzone had murdered Mihlikovich deliberately, premeditated, and maliciously and for his crime should pay the penalty of death.

FIND NO TRACE OF MISSING GIRL

Lackawanna county, are being searched by posses of state, city and county police. G-Men were also reported on the scene.

Pennsylvania state police announced that the one suspect they held was apparently not connected with the girl's disappearance. They refused to reveal his name and said he was still being held "pending one further check."

No Clues In Case
An announcement by Major William A. Clark, district head of the state police, stated: "We have absolutely nothing to go on except the fact that the girl is missing. We have been able to find no one who saw her after the time she left her home. A search of hospitals, morgues and bus terminals and roadhouses developed absolutely nothing."

Miss Martin was declared by neighbors to be unusually intelligent. She had no known love affairs and police were not inclined to believe she had left home of her own volition.

Instead of keeping buttons in a button bag or scattered in a sewing basket, a housewife puts them into small mayonnaise jars and stands them on a small shelf in the corner of her sewing room. Anyone can see at a glance the sort of button they need.

If you have no jelly strainer and stand, an upturned kitchen chair and a square of cheesecloth will make an excellent substitute.

Girl Discovers Mother, Father Dead On Floor

Couple Divorced In November; Believe Man Killed Woman, Suicided

(International News Service)
MOLINE, Ill., Dec. 21.—It was bad enough for 16-year-old Barbara Larson when her parents were divorced in November.

Yesterday she returned from school to the home in Galta where she had been living with her mother, Mrs. Helen Larson, 33.

A cheery "hello" froze on her lips. On the living room floor was the body of her father, Victor, 38. Beside it was that of her mother.

Authorities decided Larson had slain her former wife and then turned the gun on himself.

L. McConnell, all long since passed off the stage of action. Twenty names are listed under the head of "Real Estate Agents". Every one of them is now dead. Of nine notaries public listed, but two are living, Attorney Wylie McCaslin and Attorney E. M. Underwood. And so on thru the business and professional list. The great majority of those whose names were once familiar are no more.

Several nearby counties are putting forth candidates for appointment to the superior court to succeed Governor-elect Arthur James. So far we haven't heard of any Lawrence county mentioned for the place. Surely we have some good timber. The superior court has seven members. Four are taken from eastern Pennsylvania. Speak up.

Portions of East Washington street near the intersection of Court are undergoing repairs. The old amesite which is full of holes, is being dug off and a new coating put on.

Youths of Pennsylvania are seeking skilled trade employment rather than white collar jobs, according to Walter S. Cowing, state national youth administrator. This is a very good sign. There have been entirely too many young-men training for white collar jobs. The opportunity for employment is much better in the trades than in the professions. Few young men have been learning trades lately and older artisans are dying off.

According to figures released by the Federal Reserve bank of Philadelphia, both employment and payrolls increased in November as compared with October, in the New Castle-Sharon district. We hope this month will beat November, and that the new year will be better than the one which is passing.

Any of you readers who go to the Golden Gate exposition have an opportunity to take the coolest drink you ever had in your life. The University of California will have a laboratory exhibit which will convert air into water. The water will be 313 degrees below zero. Wouldn't that freeze you?

Ignorance is bliss out on the farm these days. The turkeys and chickens don't know why they are being so generously fed. Perhaps it is just as well.

It is quite evident that there is a heavy mailing of Christmas cards. Some folks yesterday and this morning, were unable to get their mail into some of the boxes. Finding them stuffed full, they plodded off, saying something, to find another mail box.

Many more homes were revealed after the city last night with holiday lighting effects ablaze. Many of the homes are most attractively decorated. One, Pa Newc noted along the Wilmington road just outside the city had a Santa Clause ready to descend the chimney. Summer avenue probably is entitled to laurels when it comes to the most extensively decorated street.

Many motorists had trouble early today with slippery roads. The light snow that was falling made traffic difficult before ashing crews got to work.

Recognition is due to Mrs. Anna Swisher, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. D. W. Ayers, of North Lee avenue. If medals are to be given for keeping a daily diary, Mrs. Swisher is 86 and has kept a diary every day, without failing for the past twenty years.

Sub-Station Is Taxed
While throngs poured into and out of the main post office, the up-town postal sub-station on the balcony of the New Castle Dry Goods store was having a "mail rush" all of its own. Store officials said long waiting lines were in order on Tuesday and they were developing today. Extra clerks were required to handle the rush.

Officials said "about 20" extras were in the post office service this morning. Others were to be called if the rush increased this afternoon.

PROBE EXPANDS IN COSTER CASE

trust laws became the center of the federal investigation today. From him authorities hope to learn much of "Coster's" alleged connection with bootlegging of illicit liquor, smuggling of arms and manipulations of the $87,000,000 in listed assets of McKesson & Robbins.

Government men also were expected to confer with "Coster's" attorney, Samuel Reich, who disclosed that the drug firm head penned a four-page note before ending his life with a gun at his palatial Fairfield, Conn. home last Friday.

Although contents of the note were withheld, it was understood to contain references to "others" who aided "Coster" in his admittedly illegal attempts to make the drug firm more prosperous.

MERRIMENT OF CHRISTMAS TIME

THE oft echoed phrase, "Merry Christmas," describes in two words the spirit of this day of days. It is the holiday of happiness and sweetness. It is a day that stirs child nature to the utmost glee, and that sets the old-timers to performing stunts they would regard as undignified on 364 other days. Somehow Christmas makes all the world young, and the homes full of cheer and brightness.

Never such a scene of merriment as when the kids greet the lighted Christmas tree, or when they tear down stairs before daylight to see what old Santa has put into their bulging stockings. Their shouts of joy ring through the house.

Then when the old folks play kid tricks on each other, and laugh at the tops of their voices, you would never think there was a trouble left in the world. All the cares of life and work seem to fade out.

It must be that when people cease striving for themselves, and begin to think how they can make somebody else happy the cares roll off their backs.

AN AMAZING REAL LIFE STORY

If some imaginative fictionist had written a story based on the life of F. Donald Coster, alias Philip Musica, most of us would be inclined to say that such a novel was very interesting but too improbable.

The fantastic tale of the convict son of immigrant parents who rose to be a financial wizard is a story that will go down in history with those of Ponzi and Kreuger.

The most startling thing about Coster is how well he hid his real identity for so many years. Before the days of telephone, telegraph and co-ordinated police systems, it was comparatively easy to drop out of sight in one community and re-appear in another. But today it is almost an impossibility.

His skill (if you want to call it that) at the profession of fraud evidently increased with the years. He apparently had mulcted his McKesson-Robbins Corp. of millions of dollars and reports that he was engaged in gun running and bootleg alcohol enterprises are being checked.

Coster even got himself mixed up in a war, it appears. Another branch of the investigation is examining a report that he helped finance Bolivia in its war with Paraguay over the Gran Chaco in exchange for a Bolivian gasoline monopoly.

His career is to be deplored, of course, and is a blot on the record of American business. But being romantic, we can't help but gasp at the audacity of an ex-convict who would write a glowing biography of himself for "Who's Who" and confer a Heidelberg doctor's degree on himself during a year which he had spent behind prison bars.

If Coster had been content with the legitimate profits from his firm and had forewarned the fraudulent deities of his checkered youth he might have died peacefully, an honored and respected businessman.

NONCE WORDS AND SUCH

Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly has quite a reputation as a lexicographer, but he would rather have one as a dictionary maker; and he wants it all one word. He approves the newspaper tendency to "solidify" words and he would extend the practice to include such words as diningroom and printseller.

When Dr. Vizetelly talks of solidifying words, he is talking of words already established in the language. He recognizes the existence, however, of words which are floating around for the nonce and which, most appropriately, he calls "nonce words." He places the total of nonce words now in the English language at 5,000. But he thinks our speech still is "under control."

The nonce words serve a purpose while they are with us. Dr. Vizetelly is not unfriendly to slang which, he says, travels in cycles. There is a "certain sincerity" about slang which, in Dr. Vizetelly's opinion, "frees it altogether from snobbery and leaves very little room for doubt as to its intention."

To illustrate: "There's not the least doubt about a man's meaning when he calls you a dub, a wet blanket or a calamity howler. You know what he means and you can't possibly kid yourself that you don't."

"And I don't mean maybe."

But, our dictionary maker warns, "nothing is more dismal than dead slang." And slang meets sudden death. "Sometimes it lasts only a day," Dr. Vizetelly says. "That is why I keep a file of slang expressions and wait, in some cases, as long as five years before printing them. No one can tell which of the many words and phrases constantly heard will be current tomorrow or next month or next year."

So a nonce word is good only for its own particular nonce. But while Dictionary maker Vizetelly is solidifying words ought not he to characterize coiners of slang expressions as noncewordmakers?

PICKING CHILD SPECIALIST

IF YOUR child has had continued trouble at keeping up with his studies at school or lags in one of them; if he shows extreme difficulty at getting along with other children; if at home or school, or both, he is extremely hard to understand or guide, you probably should see a psychologist. If there is a school psychologist, see him or her first. Unfortunately, school psychologists have so large a program of mental testing that they have little time for a complete psychological study of the child. But they are able to refer you to a reliable psychologist and protect you from the quack. Usually your school principal also can do so.

If you want to choose a family doctor, medical specialist or psychiatrist, you would call up or write to your local county or state academy (association) of medicine. Or, if you were about to choose one whose name you have, you would proceed in this fashion, or find out if the doctor considered belonged to the American Medical Association.

Know His Training

In case you wish to employ a psychologist to deal with your child, you will want to know what his training and professional standing are. Is he a member of the American Psychological Association? Is he a member of the American Association of Applied Psychologists? A member of the latter organization (recently established) should be a safe bet, for in order to get into it he must have attained high standards, not only in the theory but in the practice of psychology. The secretary is Professor H. B. English, of Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio. By writing him you can ascertain whether the person you are considering is a member of this organization and any one of its four sections—consulting, clinical, educational and industrial. Your humble servant happens to be a member of all the professional organizations named above except the industrial section. If, in addition to the above, the psychologist is listed in American Men of Science and the (World) Register of Psychologists, indicating that he has contributed numerous researches in psychology, he should have still more reason to call himself a psychologist. My readers have a right to know that the author of this column is so listed.

But let me admit that some highly-trained psychologists are inept in the application of psychology, while some other persons who have had very little or no academic training in the subject have presented some of the best psychology in consultations, lectures or publications. Nonetheless, in fairness to the public and professional ethics, these talented persons wisely refrain from calling themselves psychologists.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE MOTOR CAR

When the writer was in Detroit last summer an automobile man said to him, "believe it or not, if I was permitted, I could show you the tentative model for the 1942 automobile." Going further, he said, "you might wonder why signs new gadget and each new improved design for the motorcar was used immediately seized upon and used by the manufacturer. The answer ought to be obvious to anyone—the manufacturer must hold something in reserve for ensuing years, for he has no reason to believe that a worthwhile improvement will be discovered every year." My informant did not mean that the 1942 motorcar would be of the exact design that was laid out on the drawing boards of the automobile company, for new motorcar accessories are constantly being offered for sale and are constantly being incorporated in the standard equipment of motorcars.

The remote control gear shift is in this category. Last year it cost $10.00. This year it is free in certain models. The driver does not need to learn new driving habits, he is in a new place and no longer interferes with the passenger's knee action.

The sunshine roof is another one. It provides a sliding panel over the front compartment, allowing the driver to enjoy the advantages of an open car.

"Safety Light" speedometers are popular now, but they are not in the standard equipment of motorcars. This improvement shows the figures on the speedometer in green from zero to thirty miles an hour; amber from thirty to fifty and red from fifty to danger. The Pennsylvania driver ought to appreciate this, for it may be pretty serious for him if his car runs into the red.

Some motorcars are equipped with automatic control interior temperatures. The heat in zero weather has been an accomplished fact for several years, but comfortable air on a hot summer day is a novelty, and when that time arrives, the motorist can enjoy an air-conditioned car.

My informant, naturally, knowing much about future designs of the car in which he was interested, in same with other men in the factory, are under a terrific strain to keep their mouths shut as to what the design, for instance, is going to be, even in 1940. The ears of Detroiters are particularly filled with rumors and conjectures, and it is amazing how little real knowledge the motorist has acquired concerning these designs for future cars.

Boogy—I presume that when your son went to college he was inoculated with the love of learning.

Woogy—Yes, but it didn't take.

HINTS and DINTS

Sun sets tonight 4:38. Sun rises tomorrow 7:19.

We have noticed that lots of chaps get their hair cut just right before Christmas in the barber shops. Wonder if they do that just to keep from looking like Santa Claus? Some have hair as long as Santa's at that.

A president of a banana company has been sentenced for a year and a day to the Lewisburg penitentiary. He was caught skinning the people instead of bananas.

Both John L. Lewis and William Green had agreed that the Christmas seals are just the thing. That's the first thing they ever agreed on.

When Ma told dad in a fit of anger that she had had many proposals and had refused many men before Dad popped the question his mental reaction was that some fellows have all the luck but he maintained a discreet silence.

OUR BEST DOCTOR

Gettin' doctored ain't so bad if the doctorin's done by Dad. 'Cause ol' dad was once a boy. An' recalls things that annoy—Such as goose-grease, oil an' pills. An' such things that cure your ills. But when Ma starts in—look out! 'Cause she knows what she's about. First she'll feel my pulse, then seek signs o' fever in my cheek; Findin' none she'll then confine Searchin' to that tongue of mine.

Ma will then start in to spoil My insides with castor oil! Get her off and spoon While she hums a mournful tune: Then she'll say, 'Now, if you can just swallow this like a man.'

Seems before each winter's done Ma will give me, one by one, Quinine, pills an' mustard packs, Cures fever, gripe, an' achin' backs; Onion syrup fer m' croup; When I sneeze, an' cough, an' whoop.

But I'm tellin' you quite plain If I got an ache 'er pain, Ma's the doctor that kin tell Just the thing to make you well—Though her treatment's sometimes rough 'Twill kill or cure—Ma knows her stuff.

A bird wrote us the following on a postal card: "You shouldn't get any Christmas gift at all. You don't deserve one—not even a pair of suspenders." Wonder if that blimbo would pass us a pinch of Paris green?

The chap who is always telling what a fool he used to be, evidently hasn't taken inventory recently.

Some birds gather up money and keep it until the day they die. They cannot take it with them and it would burn if they could, so they just leave it for their heirs to fight over.

Fable: Once upon a time a nation armed itself, and the ruler said: "We are arming for the purpose of licking our neighbor."

Office Grouch: "Anyway, in grandpa's day when a fellow reached for a towel he didn't find on the rack a couple pairs of chiffon hose, washed in the bathtub."

Perhaps a. g. has forgotten that in grandpa's day they didn't have bath tubs and they didn't "reach for a towel, either they just rolled to a dry place on the family towel if they could find a dry spot.

The grangers of this country don't like the way they are treated by snooping investigators. They think they should not have to paint their stalls green and their barn doors yellow. An inspector has to demand something even in these days when they don't do very much only make trouble.

A crazy quill stabs just about so crazy no matter what you do for it.

WHO SENT THE BOX?

Yesterday some one left a good sized box for us in the lobby of The News office. Our name was on the box, but the name of the sender was not on it. We don't feel like eating the goodies in it for fear they will kill us and we don't want to give the box away for fear we will be arrested for murder. We would like to know who sent the box so we can feel free to eat the goodies in it. Always put your name on things to eat if you don't deliver it yourself.

The pen is mightier than the sword, of course, but when in a pinch the machine gun isn't a bad plaything either.

A woman met a young woman at a California resort hotel, so the story goes.

"Do you know Mr. Brown?" the woman asked her.

"Very well," she answered.

"Do you think he would make me a good husband?"

"Well, I wouldn't say—he has only been an indifferent husband to me for the last three years."

We saw a chap the other day with a very bright colored necktie on. He had spilled some tomato on it.

One does not have to be naturally beautiful so far as facial characteristics are concerned to be attractive. To be immaculately groomed and manicured, stylishly coiffed and dressed, does not entail expenditures beyond the reach of the working girl nowadays. A ten-dollar dress may be as chic as one costing ten times as much and any poor girl who is smart can learn to act as her own beautician, provided she has a good permanent as a foundation and can purchase such essentials as powder, rouge and lipstick of the proper tints and properly apply them.

Reader's Question Answered

Dear Miss Markel—Could you suggest some appropriate but not too expensive gift for me to give my best man and ushers?—GROOM.

Answer—Cuff links are frequently given for this purpose. Other suggestions are: Belt buckles, gold or silver key chains, cigarette cases, wallets, card cases or any other personal articles. Your gift to your best man should be of slightly greater value than those given to the ushers.

Nothing depreciates so rapidly as appreciation unless it is an expensive automobile.

During a performance at Maidstone Prison, England, Giovanni the conjuror called up two prisoners to assist him. They tried, without success, to pick his pockets. Then they found that their own pockets had been picked of tobacco and paper.

"I never had so appreciative an audience," said Giovanni. Said the prisoners: "And he gets paid for doing it!"

It's an emblem of trust and a sign that he's grown

That thrill which I knew when my first watch I found

I waited the Christmas when my boy could know

The thrill of delight only that can bestow;

When did Santa at last should remember to bring

What's What At A Glance

Pan-American Axis To Last
Will Outlive European Type
Recent Events In Europe CitedBy CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 21.—The alignment Secretary of State Hull has been organizing at the Pan-American gathering in Lima, Peru, probably would be referred to in Europe as an "axis." Like the Berlin-Rome axis, subsequently inclusive of Tokyo, Webster defines an axis as something upon which something else turns—something like a globe or a wheel, though the latter kind generally is described as an axle. A certain breed of deer also is called an axis. These recent international axes (if that's the correct plural) certainly are not deer. I suppose the theory is that various international policies turn on them. I don't think the analogy is a very close one.

But never mind. We know what an up-to-date diplomat means when he says "ax-iss." He means an understanding between nations, without a formal treaty. Treaties are broken too readily. Some axes seem to be unbreakable likewise. For example, the Berlin-Rome axis worked all right when Hitler wanted to dismember Czechoslovakia. Mussolini turned his end of the whizzer faithfully enough on that occasion. Now, however, that Mussolini seeks to grab a lot of French territory, Hitler doesn't twist his end of the thing a bit energetically.

OURS IS BETTER

I fancy that our Pan-American axis will operate a deal more perfectly. We Pan-Americans have, as a matter of fact, much in common. It will pay us to stick together.

To illustrate:

We in the United States don't like foreign propaganda in our midst. The Dies quiz has demonstrated that. It's been a silly inquiry. Nevertheless it's been very popular, for we have a "bunch" or two which we're mightily resentful of.

True, no sensible person takes these outlaws seriously. Under our present immigration laws we have only a comparative handful of born Germans in the country. Most of the bunch's members are native-born sons or grandsons of real Germans.

Plenty of our citizens of German ancestry are as anti-Hitler as the rest of us are.

But consider the case, say, of Brazil!

Down south, in the vicinity of Puerto Alegre, I've seen a community, running into the hundreds of thousands, where the language is German, the signs are German, German is the only tongue taught in the local schools, and you can't get waited on in a store unless you speak a little German. This population demands autonomy (virtual independence of the Brazilian government) as loudly as the German Sudeteners ever did. Indeed, they've attempted revolution. Does this make the rank-and-file of Brazilians holler? Well, you can imagine it!

Suppose, here in the U. S. A., we had a statewide uprising in favor of autonomy for a foreign nationality! That's what Brazil has experienced.

THEY'RE INFLUENTIAL

The Germans are not so cohesive in the rest of Latin America as in Brazil. They haven't the same solid colonies elsewhere, but they're influential. The Italians are more diffused. They're as numerous but they mingle better with the Spaniards.

I don't think the Japanese signify. The nub of it is that we are Latin America is a genuine axis at last.

This last conference has been most gratifying. It looks like the actual article.

Hitherto the U. S. A. has been too obviously overpowering. Today we're in cahoots. In past years we were, to say the least, patronizing. Often we were bullying. President Wilson was one of the worst of all. Presidents Harding and Coolidge were well-meaning but ignorant. President Hoover's policy was o. k., but he hadn't a sufficiently pleasant smile.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull have policy and affability, both.

Just after the Buenos Aires Pan-American conference, which was wonderfully successful, I asked Secretary Hull how he did it. He didn't know. But after a chat with him as an old South American resident, I did. The South Americans liked him personally.

Sudetenland Feels Heavy Business Wallop From U.S.

(International News Service) BERLIN, Dec. 21.—A sad and costly sock in the Nazi breadbasket came swinging across the Atlantic from Washington Tuesday in the form of orders received by all American consulates in the Reich to classify exports goods from Sudetenland as coming from Germany.

Ordinarily the new instructions would have amounted to nothing more than another consular order. But in the case of Sudetenland they mean stamping every export article with the phrase, "Made in Germany."

At present, so far as America is concerned, that kind of identification mark is the same as branding the article with the designation, "Don't touch—poison." And it has just about ended Sudetenland's export trade with the United States.

The cost and pain were even more marked because Bohemian toy and glassware manufacturers—transformed into official Nazi citizens last September by the Munich agreement—had licked their chops in anticipation of cashing in once more on the American Christmas market.

But Washington beat them to it and well before the Christmas trade could get started, the American consul in Berlin, Raymond Geist, telegraphed and telephoned every American consul in Germany to put Sudeten goods into the category of German goods.

Shippers waiting on the docks and even those already loaded aboard ships had to be stamped as made in Germany. Thus, they automatically brought upon themselves new customs duties on arrival in New York and other American ports. Thus, also, their price tags had to be marked upward despite official subsidies on German export goods.

The high price obstacle plus the baneful effect on the American market of the "Made in Germany" designations have driven Santa Claus away from Sudetenland's business men's door.

Murderer Is Sent To Penitentiary

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 21.—Joe Vukovich, 43, of Midland, today was sentenced by Judge Frank E. Reader

to be imprisoned in the Western Penitentiary from four to 12 years.

Vukovich, who had previously pleaded to voluntary manslaughter in the fatal stabbing of his life-long friend, George Majestic, October 11, told the court today he was drunk.

Harry Brown, West Washington St. extension, received word today telling of the serious injury of his brother, Edward Brown, who resides in Zanesville, O.

According to the communication received here, Edward Brown, a driver for a bakery concern in Zanesville was injured Tuesday morning, when his truck overturned several times.

He is in a Zanesville hospital in a very serious condition, suffering several broken ribs, a fractured collar bone, an injured lung and other injuries. Recovery is doubtful, according to the word sent the local man.

The Great Game Of Politics

Williams has been permitted, unrebuked, to inflame relief workers with class-hated speeches and encourage the Workers' Alliance which is dominated by Communists and is in New Deal politics, as its leader says, "with both feet."

IT is not surprising that with this background the suggestion of putting Mr. Hopkins in the Cabinet should arouse opposition in the Senate. It is surprising that, regardless of his intimacy with the President, there has not come a stronger public demand for his removal as head of the relief organization. It is possible, of course, that the President may not name Mr. Hopkins as Mr. Roper's successor, but there is no doubt, at all that he wants to. As for the idea that if named he will not be confirmed, there is no foundation for that. He will be confirmed, all right. For one thing, Mr. Hopkins has done a lot of favors for Senators. There are a few who have not had to ask him for money. For another, certain well-known "economic royalists" of the type most deridged and abused by New Deal spokesmen and particular targets of the Corcoran-Cohen group are behind him.

IN THE course of the last few years while belonging to the group of New Dealers who most violently rant against wealth and most constantly sob about the "underprivileged third" Mr. Hopkins has become great personal friends with number of wealthy men and frequently has been their guest in New York, Long Island and other places. Some of these are among his strongest backers for the Cabinet post. Some of them were for him for his new job ahead of the "inner circle."

Some of them have considerable influence with anti-Administration Democrats in the Senate.

IF Mr. Hopkins is confirmed—and there is every indication he will be—it will be due more to the influence of his "economic royalist" friends than anything else. If he had to rely entirely upon the "intellectual liberals" he would not get to first base in the Senate. Fortunately for him, he has other advocates. Some time ago it was suggested that one idea of putting Mr. Hopkins in the Cabinet was to build him up for the 1940 Presidential nomination. That is no longer taken seriously even by the "intellectuals." It would take a good deal more than two years to build Mr. Hopkins up as a Democratic Presidential possibility. It could hardly be done in two-

ty. The practical party politicians just laugh at the notion.

HE is being promoted now in order to save him from attack—not to groom him for higher honors. And despite his complete lack of business experience, there is one thing to be said about his occupancy of the business portfolio—to wit, his political activities will be much less offensive than in a position where he has billions of public funds to distribute for relief.

UNCLE EBEN ON BELIEVING "I can't believe half of stories I hear," said Uncle Eben, "but what I most dreads is de time when I won't believe de other half either."

Girl Scouts Give Yule Joy

The Christmas holidays find Girl Scouts throughout the country cooperating to make the season a happy one. Their activities range from filling stockings and wrapping gifts for children and old folk in hospitals and other institutions, to singing Christmas carols for shut-ins. Brownie Scouts contribute community service by filling stockings with toys and holiday delicacies for less fortunate youngsters. In some cities Senior Girl Scouts (above) organize their own groups of Christmas carolers. In others they participate in community sponsored programs. This Brownie (left) has been saving her pennies for weeks to buy her contributions for the stockings being filled by the members of her Brownie pack. Girl Scouts (right), whose ages range from ten to fourteen, help by providing presents and planning Christmas parties for children in day nurseries and orphanages.

NEWSPost Office Is Keeping Ahead
Of Mail VolumeTwo Extra Clerks Augment
Staff At Mahoningtown
Post Office

With the aid of two auxiliary clerks at the Mahoningtown Post Office, the regular staff has thus far been able to keep ahead of the huge volume of mail, created by the Christmas season.

According to Edwin McBride, superintendent of the Mahoningtown office, the volume of mail has almost increased three times its normal volume, but he made it clear that the office has as yet been able to keep ahead of the mail.

McBride also stated today that it would speed up the handling of the mail, if all of the patrons would sort their bundles of cards and letters and deposit them in the correct slots. Top chute in the window is for out-of-town mail and the lower one is for Mahoningtown and New Castle mail.

Strike Ties Up
Buffalo Markets

(International News Service) BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 21.—A strike of 700 market and produce workers tied up Buffalo's two terminals today, creating fears of a shortage of holiday poultry and food.

While state and federal labor mediators sought to affect a settlement of the dispute involving wages, Police Commissioner Glenn H. McGowan warned that property and lives would be protected. He stated that he would order police to ride trucks should it be necessary to send them through picket lines to make food deliveries.

SEA LIONS POPULAR (International News Service) BOSTON.—Three sea lions are the most popular specimens of sea life in South Boston's Marine Park Aquarium. They consistently put on the best "show" for visitors with their wrestling and buffoonery. # To Examine Every Italian Youth For Service In Air Corps

Mussolini To Increase Force

Plans To Have Greatest Force Of "Shock Troops Of The Air"

SECRET ORDERS ARE ISSUED IN NATION

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 21—Premier Mussolini in a drive to provide for Italy the most formidable "shock troops of the air" the world has ever seen, has secretly ordered every mentally and physically able youth in the nation to take special examinations for entry into the Italian air force. It was disclosed on reliable authority today.

Every young Italian eligible for army service is being tested to determine his qualifications as an aviator. It was stated, it is the purpose of the world's largest force of trained air pilots. According to estimates here, Italy under this plan will eventually possess some 10,000 pilots and air corps reserves.

For Life Enlistment

Men accepted in the Italian air force after passing rigid examinations are being trained for life enlistment, according to the reports, and Mussolini himself is in direct charge of the rebuilding of the air force personnel and equipment.

It is estimated that Italy now possesses 10,000 fully trained pilots and is adding hundreds to this number every week. At the same time, Italian production methods are said to be turning out large numbers of war planes.

According to reports in London Italy has at least 3,000 second string pilots and a reserve of 7,000 men in addition to the 10,000 class A pilots. Mussolini also is believed to have nearly 4,000 bombers which he can order into action at instant notice.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1938, Kink Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THUMB-SUCKING CONSTITUTES IMPORTANT PROBLEM TO MOTHERS

Every month I get many letters from mothers who want to know how to break children of the habit of thumb-sucking that I have become convinced that it is a very important matter insofar as the raising of children is concerned.

The impression has gotten abroad that if a baby starts sucking its thumb, then it automatically follows that his mouth will be malformed and his teeth will be out of shape. Of course, there is danger that if a baby is allowed to suck its thumb as much as it likes that the mouth won't achieve its proper shape and the teeth may be thrown out of line as a result.

Much too often, I am afraid, mothers overdo things in trying to cure this habit in children. In fact, they emphasize the habit so much that the child is apt to suck its thumb because his or her attention has been drawn to it so often.

What convinces me that most people overemphasize this habit, is the experience we had when the Quintuplets were born. We received all kinds of medicines and apparatus from people all over the United States and Canada, along with a whole lot of regulations and instructions as to its use.

Most of the medicines sent us contained bad-tasting ingredients. You were supposed to put this on the baby's thumb, and when the child put the thumb in its mouth, the bad taste induced it to remove the thumb at once.

Of course we didn't try it on the Quints, but I have known other mothers to try it, and I can't say I'm in favor of it. For one thing, the child usually has ideas of his own, and he may suck his thumb no matter how disagreeable the taste.

The apparatus we received consisted usually of splints of various lengths and kinds. Some such splints would cover only the thumb; others were for the baby's whole hand; some were huge things supposed to cover the infant's arm and hand. They were pretty formidable cures, I can tell you.

I had some people write me and advise that we sew up the sleeves of the children's nightgowns so they couldn't get at their thumbs when they went to bed. All these people, some of them dentists, warned me that if the children sucked their thumbs their teeth would undoubtedly grow in crooked.

We were fortunate at this time to have the advice of Dr. W. E. Blatz, head of a group studying child psychology in the University of Toronto. Dr. Blatz at that time was supervising their pre-school training. He had no hesitation in supporting our theory that all medicines and mechanical means for breaking this habit were no good. In place of these, he advised us to train the children in proper habits, and in that way this habit would take care of itself.

Don't misunderstand me, I am not saying that thumb-sucking isn't bad. I'm sure that it has a bad effect on incoming teeth. But if it isn't continued too long, I don't think any permanent damage will be done.

News-Penn Kiddies' Show To Draw 1,200 Thursday

One of New Castle's biggest Christmas holiday parties takes place
Thursday morning when the New Castle News and Penn theater together play host to 1,200 of the city's worthiest boys and girls at a free showing of the motion picture, "A Christmas Carol."
The throng will see the film at the Penn. The showing commences at 9:30.
Tickets (and every child must have a ticket) were out today and the 1,200 kiddies, almost too anxious for words, were all set to enjoy the picture. They will see a film which has won the praise of noted critics,
because it brings to the screen Dickens' world-famous story of a

misers' regeneration through a little child.
Assisting Manager M. D. Cohn and
the Penn organization will be special police and firemen. They are being assigned to watch out for the safety of the children.
General Manager J. F. Rentz of
The News, who supervised the distribution of tickets, reported that
"the worthiest will be there."
"For this picture," he said, "is for the 1,200 youngsters who are neediest who deserve to see such a fine
picture."
Playing roles in the film are such stars as Reginald Owen, Gene Lockhart, Kathleen Lockhart, Terry Kilburn, Barry Mackay and Lynne Carver and others.

News Briefs From City Hall

Traffic Commissioner Thomas
Jones circulated in various sections of the city today untangling traffic blockades whenever they came as a result of shoppers automobiles congesting traffic.

Two cars were reported stolen yesterday. One was a Ford owned by John Whitten and was taken from 214 East Wallace avenue. It carried Pennsylvania license MF414 and contained $100.00 worth of refrigerator tools. The other was a Ford, owned by Irving Long, R. D.
3. It carried license RD88. Whitten's car was taken at 1 p. m., and Long's car, at 9 p. m.

Burglars were reported to have operated near police headquarters
last night. R. J. Hanna having informed police that tools worth approximately $20.00, were stolen from a rear room in an empty room at 24
East street.

Edward Umbright reported today that tin cans would be collected in the eastern part of the East Side, Thursday. The collection will start at the city line and proceed eastward.

Youths were reported to have annoyed persons who attended an entertainment in the Croton public school last night. Police were sent to the district.

In Prohibition days it was no
strange sight to see an unfortunate who had imbibed too freely of illicit liquor fall over, "dead drunk." However, yesterday two persons brought back memories of those days because both were found using a public highway to sleep off a "jag." They were arrested but set free in police court this morning.

tered Republican.

In the case of John Carpenter of Ellwood City against Charles Bernino of New Castle, Judge W. Walter Abraham has handed down an opinion in which he refuses a motion to strike off an appeal, and the plaintiff is directed to file a statement of claim within 15 days. The case is one growing out of an automobile accident, in which Alderman James C. Berce received judgment for plaintiff in the sum of $43.

Letters of administration have been granted by Register and Recorder, Orville Potter, to Michael
J. Holowski in the estate of the late Steve Holowski.

Sixty-two instruments of all kinds
were entered at the register and recorder's office during the past week.
Of this number thirty-four were deeds and twenty-three were mortgages. Fourteen of the mortgages, totaling $31,650 were given to building and loan associations; six, totaling $15,250 were given to banks and trust companies; two totaling $9,200,
were given to a real estate company
and one, of $2000 was given to an individual. Some of the above mortgages were given for the purpose of refinancing loans in order that advantage might be taken of the tax abatement law. This law is only good to December 31. There has been a great rush of delinquents to get their taxes paid in time to reap
the advantages of the act.

Two City Trucks In Slight Crashes

Both City Trucks Are Struck
By Other Autos, Reports
State

Two city trucks and privately owned automobiles were in collisions this morning. Both collisions were due to slippery streets, according to reports made to the police.
One report said that a car driven by Bertha Taylor, 717 Blaine street
skidded against a city truck operated by Clarence Samuels at 8:30 a. m., at South Jefferson and George streets.
Another report said a car operated

by Mrs. William Barnes, Harmony, R. D. 1., was compelled to swerve because of a parked car in the line
of traffic and an auto coming from an opposite direction.
This caused her auto, she told police, to strike a city truck driven by Charles Nolan.

Michigan Picks Vandenberg As Favorite Son

Believe That Michigan Senator
Is Leading Republican Presidential Candidate

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Michigan will offer the name of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg to the next Republican national convention for the presidential nomination unless something unforeseen happens, Rep. Roy Woodruff (R) of Michigan, said today.

The possibility of another native of Michigan—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York—being on the ticket also was foreseen by Woodruff.

"It is believed by friends of Senator Vandenberg that he will not actively campaign for the nomination," said Woodruff. "According to Senator-Elect Taft of Ohio, Senator Vandenberg is easily the leading candidate. In suggesting Senator Vandenberg, I want it understood that I do not speak for him."

Woodruff forecast a great political future for District Attorney Dewey, a native of his Michigan district.

"Wouldn't it be strange if Michigan supplied both presidential and vice-presidential candidates in 1940?" he asked.

Timely Warnings Issued By Suber

Because of the Christmas season, Police Lieutenant Cecil F. Suber today issued some worthwhile instructions to citizens as a part of the police department's endeavor to prevent thefts.

"Do not leave notes in milk bottles or mail boxes for milk men or others, stating that you are not at home and giving the time when you will return. This is good information for sneak thieves."

"Do not admit any person, representing himself as an agent of a public utility, unless the person displays proper credentials. If in doubt, telephone the utility company of office."

Refuse information to strangers regarding the movements of your neighbors.

"Bank is the safest place for money. Thieves always look behind pictures, beneath mattresses, in desks and beneath carpets."

"Do not fail to leave your house illuminated at night. The few cents expended for current may save you dollars in grief."

"Keep a record of the serial number of bonds, stocks and valuable watches. The numbers will assist in recovery if such are stolen."

"Should a crime be committed in your home do not permit anyone to touch anything. Fingerprints may result in apprehension."

Ellwood Cagers Bow To Norwin

Last Quarter Rally Fails To Offset Visitor's Lead And Game Ends 29-24

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 21.—For the second time within a week, Ellwood City high school basketball bowed to a strong Norwin High quint when they were defeated 29 to 24 last night before a large crowd of home-town rooters at Lincoln gym.

Unable to penetrate the visitors stellar defense, the Newton-men were able to score only 8 baskets, although they made many of those disappointing shots that circle the hoop and finally bounce out. Once again the blue and white had a remarkable record of making 8 out of 12 free shots. Although the locals rallied considerably in the final period, they were unable to surpass the winners, who were ahead in every period.

With the exception of Robuck and Ottoviani, who alternated at forward, in the first three periods the Ellwood line-up was not changed until the last minutes when an entire new team was substituted. The Norwin line-up was never changed with the young giants, Pierce and Stough, being a little too much for the Ellwood team.

The Ellwood Reserves whittled the Norwin Reserves 49-11 in the preliminary game.

Ellwood will not play again until a week from tonight when they will be hosts to Springdale. On Friday evening, the 30th, they windup their pre-season games at Campbell, O.

SWING HAS COLOR IF NOT BEAUTY, MUSICIAN ADMITS

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 21.—A "killer" rendition of the swing tune "Flat Foot Floogie" isn't beautiful, but it isn't harmful either, according to Augustus D. Zanzig, music director of the National Recreation association and authority of fine music.

Zanzig, here conferring with recreation leaders, said, "There is something jolly in swing—and you notice I was careful not to say 'beautiful.' It has developed orchestral colors never thought of before."

"We need to capture the spontaneity and simplicity of folk music and lose the sophistication of swing. Swing itself will die a natural death," said Zanzig.

Home Grown Christmas Trees Are Widely Used

(Special To The News)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 21—More than two million Christmas trees will adorn Pennsylvania homes this Christmas season.

Many of these trees will be the products of Pennsylvania forests. The growing of Christmas trees and Christmas greens is an important seasonal industry in this State which provides farmers in many sections with a substantial income.

Dr. James F. Bogardus, Secretary of the State Department of Forests and Waters in commenting upon the fact that approximately $2,500,000 will be spent by Pennsylvania this year for Yuletide decorations, pointed out that the Commonwealth's crop of evergreens not only gives farmers an added income but gives it at a time when it is particularly acceptable.

"Pennsylvanians should buy home grown trees for the Christmas celebrations," Bogardus said. "This not only will help provide a winter income for many rural people, but it also will prove to be most satisfactory to the populace, generally. A shapely home grown tree, is far superior to one shipped from a distance."

Pointing out that a tree cut and handled properly a short time before Christmas will retain its fragrance and its foliage throughout the Christmas season, Dr. Bogardus explained that trees hauled from distant points are likely to shed their needles as soon as they are brought into a warm room.

Stressing the importance of care for Christmas trees, Dr. Bogardus declared that trees not only may be kept green in warm rooms thru the Christmas season but he also said that it is possible to prevent needles from falling off too soon.

"The method of keeping cut flowers in good condition might be followed in relation to the trees," he said. "Experience has proved that if the tree is set in a container of water it will remain fresh for a longer time. The tiny cells in the wood will cause the water to rise in the stem thereby enabling the trees to retain their needles and keep green."

Spruce and fir trees according to Bogardus, will retain their leaves for a longer period than any other tree. Other native trees such as the hemlock, pine and cedar also are popular during the Christmas season.

In addition to the State's tree contribution to the brightening of the Christmas season, it is interesting to know that Holly, the most widely used Christmas green, is a native of Pennsylvania, while the laurel, rhododendron, hawthorne, bitter-sweet and similar plants found in the State's forests are becoming more in demand each year.

DAILY-DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Shakespeare knew his soporifics. In Othello he speaks of poppy and mandragora.

The ancients knew of similar narcotics.

They were familiar with drugs to ease pain and sadness.

Opium and Indian Hemp.

The modern era of such drugs began less than 70 years ago.

Today there are morphine, codeine, hyosine, ether.

All are dangerous unless taken under medical supervision.

Narcotics, in the hands of physicians, are very useful.

Some of these drugs are indispensable.

Cleopatra pleaded for mandragora to bring eternal sleep.

Instead she got the asp.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

There's a southpaw athlete in New Wilmington high who has the makings of a crack basketball ace. The dexterous lad is a one "Lefty" Minner, who drops the sphere through the cords in Hank Luisetti fashion. A couple of officials gave us the tip and we peered into the lad's batting average for the first two setts. Against Fredonia, in the 14 lifter, Minner's left handed slants hit the cords for five field goals and a charity flip. He came back the next night, against Woodrow Wilson high of Youngstown, and put on an even better show, casting in with eight double-deckers and an Annie Oakley to boot. Twenty-eight points in two games is plenty good enough for us.

Harry Crisci, former New Castle high grid captain and the Mrs. are enroute to sunny California for eight weeks. They will be among the localities who will bask in the sun while Southern California and Duke put on the Rose Bowl show. Harold Blank, tops in my books as an amateur, stopped in the city over the week-end for a workout in a downtown gymnasium. Blank, now a student at Bethany, will appear in the feature go here January 2. Rufus "Ubiquitous" Johns, now in Miami, Florida, dropped in a card to this desk, wishing the sports fans of the city a Merry Christmas etc. Early reports from Pittsburgh state that Ford City, the team which tripped the New Castle eagles last week, will win the W. P. I. A. L. toga this year.

Here's a crack invented by a Duke follower of Charlotte, N. C.: Pittsburg lost the National league race by a nose and the Duke game by a foot. Not bad... During his schoolboy days in Bay St. Louis, Miss, "Zeke" Bonura heaved the javelin close to 214 feet... Lou Nova, the current flash of fistiana, played football at Sacramento Junior College. His manager, Ray Carlin, dished out $1,000 for his contract... There's talk about the minor league leagues sponsoring professional football to make their ball orchards produce year-round income.

Odds and eds along the sport front... Fred Hutchison, the Seattle pitching wizard purchased by the Detroit Tigers, hangs around a hotel lobby most of the time when he isn't attending movies... Joe Louis will get 42 1/2 per cent for taking John Henry Lewis, J. H.'s take in will be 17 1/2 per cent... Penn's attendance of 330,000 grid fans topped all eastern colleges during the '38 season... Dartmouth's 19,000 customers at four home games was the poorest among the larger schools.

The past season was the greatest in the history of professional football... Nova, Scotia again takes the top post as the world's tuna angling center. Some 236 bluefin giants, with a total poundage of 99,283, were brought to gaff in water off the Province during the short summer season... Baylor University's band ranks among the most outstanding in the country... Thousands of grid fans enjoyed the smooth music produced by the Baylorites during the '38 campaign... During 1937, $4,383,358 was spent for baseball materials.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

Here it is... that day which we call an anniversary. Just forty-nine more to go and then it will be a golden wedding. So stick around folks and we'll have a big dance and bingo party. Cheers!

Have you been around to see the Christmas Decorations... Some of the citizens have really put a lot of time and effort in their work and it shows it too. The ones who have registered in the Lighting Contest are wondering who will win the prizes. Why not go around and see if you can pick out those registered and those you would pick as winners.

Word has reached this desk concerning the Neshannock avenue side of the Neshannock river bank... you can see this section very plainly from Croton avenue. It is cluttered up with all the worst type of trash... auto fenders and the like. When high water comes this trash is washed into the river bottom and before long it has collected so much driftings that the river is over its banks... then we have a small flood. This all could be remedied in very short order if the citizens would help. By that we mean... refrain from using this spot as a trash area. So let's see what can be done... if the city would clean up this bank now.

Here's k something... we are getting ready to feel sorry for the fellow who has a mess of Christmas trees on hand Monday morning... just what would a fellow do with a stock of such merchandise? Well, everyone has their own problem.

A group that really has done wonders with toys this season is the CUO and CIO... they have been working in a shop out in Union Township which is located in Jack Griffiths home. They have fixed up a raft of toys and the like and are now planning a Christmas party for those children who will be in doubt of seeing Santa Claus... a fine piece of work boys... we admire you all.

Ask Congress For Huge Sums

Congress Facing Demand
For Expenditures Even Larger Than Ever

MUCH PRESSURE FOR SPENDING

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The new Congress faces the greatest pressure for appropriation and spending of huge sums that any in recent history. Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri, ranking Democrat on the house appropriations committee, said today.

After a survey of the fiscal situation, Cannon expressed doubt that appropriations can be cut to the extent sought by advocates of strict economy in federal expenditures.

Huge Sums Asked
Although the last congress appropriated more than $10,000,000,000, demands are being made for appropriations far exceeding this figure, he said.

Government departments, submitting their budget requests to the president, are urging new expenditures and an increase in funds for expenditures now authorized.

Pressure from the country for new expenditures, is equally great, he said.

"There is more pressure for spending this year than ever before," said Cannon. "Money is being sought for things for which we never have before appropriated and additional funds are being sought for activities now under way."

"I have seen no indication of a reduction in the demands of recipients of federal expenditures. Admittedly it is not possible to balance the budget this year."

Hope To Economize
"However, it is to be hoped that in all expenditures and especially in routine expenditures, we will be able to economize materially."

Congress will be forced to appropriate from $500,000,000 to $750,000,000 soon after it convenes to carry on WPA and other relief expenditures from March 1 until the end of the fiscal year, June 30, he said.

"National defense expenditures will increase but not to the extent, I hope, that some expect," said Cannon. "I think there has been hysteria over this subject."

"The relief load does seem to be lightening somewhat. We hope to effect economies in the agricultural appropriation bill as the result of organizations effected in that field, which will make possible elimination of some duplication and overlapping expenditures."
